Snowdown Showdown

Bad Santa Veigar: Most Santas wish to bring joy and enchantment to children everywhere, but Veigar wants no such thing. His dark ambitions have grown beyond simply thwarting Snowdown-he schemes to throw the world into chaos, blotting out the holidays with his evil forever.

Reindeer Kog'Maw: It is rumored the Kog'Maw stole his glowing nose and deer antlers from a particularly adorable creature he devoured. Whether or not the theory is true, Kog'Maw is now the most famous reindeer of all.

Silent Night Sona: Drifting through the streets as she plays, Sona's beautiful melodies bring out the wonder of fresh snowfalls, quiet evenings by the fire, and time spent with family and friends. She can also weaponize these songs, raining destruction upon those who would spoil the holidays.

Snow Bunny Nidalee: A fierce warrior who makes her home in the winter forest, Nidalee isn't content with simple Snowdown parties. She plays the role of Santa for cheery woodland creatures, driving off intruders and protecting her furry friends from harm.

Workshop Nunu: While the sight of a holiday yeti and his small elf companion may seem frightening, there is no gentler pair than Willump and Nunu. Nunu builds the toys, while Willump accidentally crushes them with his inhuman strength.

Ambitious Elf Jinx: A master toy maker and inventor, Jinx believes she could one day become the greatest Santa anyone has ever seen. Other elves worry her creations could be classified as weapons… but sometimes that's the price of true ambition.

Santa Braum: He's making that list, and checking it twice- but there's a lot of room for improvement because Braum is so nice! He may be tasked with giving coal to naughty children, but his big heart and sunny outlook ensure everyone gets exactly what they wanted… even the bad kids.

Santa Draven: Draven always knew he would make the perfect Santa. He's handsome, his hair is incredible, he has a great sense of fashion, he's defeated hundreds in the Noxian fighting pits, and his flying axes are super sharp-the perfect Santa, more or less.

Festive Maokai: Big, jolly and possessed by a literal holiday spirit, the living fir tree known as Maokai loves nothing more than to unwrap the presents tucked under him every year. He would prefer to do this away from the fire.

Candy Cane Miss Fortune: Miss Fortune isn't interested who's been nice-the naughty are out in droves for Snowdown, and that means big business for bounty hunters. Packing heat, and ready to take in marks dead or alive, this is one present you really don't want to unwrap.

Earnest Elf Tristana: Known for her warm smile and heartfelt sincerity, Tristana's love of holiday cheer brings joy to everyone. She fiercely defends Snowdown festivities with a ferocious barrage of overstuffed presents.

Happy Elf Teemo: An elf renowned for his unflinching happiness in all things, some people once believed that under Teemo's merry exterior lay the heart of a killer. Those naysayers soon vanished under completely normal circumstances.

Mistletoe Leblanc: Leblanc's wicked illusions grow only more powerful during Snowdown, when the season of giving takes hold, and people are at their most gullible. Her enchanting looks only to draw more victims in, becoming pawns in her inscrutable games.

Nutcracko: A terrifying, evil nutcracker from an unknown time and place, Nutcracko's nightmarish appearance and dagger-hurling boxes of death are a curse on Snowdown festivities. He wishes to eliminate all Santas, ushering in a new age of stale fruitcakes and creepy wooden toys.

Old Saint Zilean: Though many Santas compete to give the most holiday cheer, Zilean's mastery over the flow of time lets him deliver huge number of presents in an instant. So far this has not created a reality-annihilating Snowdown paradox.

Re-Gifted Amumu: Like decorative soaps or a fifth pair of socks, Amumu has been passed back and forth between disgruntled family members for generations. For some reason nobody seems to want the sobbing, accursed mummy boy.

Santa Gragas: Some might say Gragas would be the perfect Santa, and between his jolly frame and wild beard he certainly fits the bill. But Gragas is also very unreliable, constantly intoxicated, and starts fights seemingly at random-but he likes the costume, and no one is brave enough to take it back.

Slay Belle Katarina: Donning a mishmash of Snowdown fashions to throw targets off her scent, Katarina uses the holidays as a cover for high profile assassinations. If you hear the sound of jingle bells...run.

Snowmerdinger: Brought to life by the power of a magic hat, Snowmerdinger now pursues theoretical Snowdown sciences including snowball trajectory, cocoa cooling speeds, and automated turret construction. He engineered his own strain of carrot noses.

Omega Squad

Omega Squad Teemo: Teemo once lived by a code. He's long since forgotten what it was, or even what started the fighting, but he does remember two things: nobody's innocent, and always settle your scores.

Omega Squad Fizz: Omega Squad's saboteur, Fizz is skilled in underwater combat. It is unclear what kind of action he saw before joining up, however, as he only ever refers to the sea as "a bucket of chum."

Omega Squad Tristana: Commander of the Omega Squad, Tristana, has made it her policy never to retreat unless she's returning fire the entire way home. She calls it "advancing backwards."

Omega Squad Twitch: Squad medic-and deranged lunatic-Twitch has been deeply and irreversibly affected by war. It's been a long time since he was a competent medical professional, as he no longer abides by the adage "do no harm."

Omega Squad Veigar: A heavy artillery specialist with a serious chip on his shoulders, Veigar has a troubling habit of calling down huge amounts of explosive ordnance for even the most mundane problems. He thinks of it as "a fun quirk."

Pulsefire

Pulsefire Caitlyn: A legendary chrono-law enforcer feared in every age, Caitlyn's mission is to protect the fragile enigma that is time. Those who dare threaten its integrity inevitably find themselves firmly locked in the sights of her temporal plasma blaster.

Pulsefire Ezreal: Temporal fugitive and time-hopping explorer extraordinaire, Ezreal leaps across disparate realities searching for interesting technology to acquire. He is responsible for countless paradoxes and is currently wanted by the dystopian Remembrancers, who hunt him relentlessly.

PROJECT

PROJECT: Yi: One of the first concepts, Yi was held by PROJECT for extensive experimentation, and then finally freed by the G/NETIC rebels. His psyche may still contain some glitches, but his experimental hyperlight "alpha" blade serves the resistance with its precision blade.

PROJECT: Ashe: While on the frontlines of a corporate war, Ashe witnessed the human cost of PROJECT's ambition. Now the leader of the resistance group G/NETIC, Ashe has set her sights on nothing less than the downfall of the most powerful corporations.

PROJECT: Vayne: Augmented with classified tWWech, Vayne was once a member of PROJECT's counter espionage unit. After she was betrayed by the corporation she served, she now stalks the shadows as a vigilante, searching for ways to break PROJECT and the technology that haunts her soul.

PROJECT: Leona: A heavy armor combatant, Leona has seen the truth behind the neon light of PROJECT, and now stands with Ashe and the G/NETIC rebellion. She carries a mounted ion charge shield, capable of blocking and stunning targets with its variable energy yield output.

PROJECT: Lucian: Once a sentinel within the Command Line, Lucian has seen PROJECT for what they truly are. His dual ion-core Lightcaster pistols now serve G/NETIC and the human rebellion, bringing down the down their technological oppressors with brutal efficiency.

Project: Zed: Rising from the Command Line, Zed is a leader within PROJECT's counter-espionage units. He seeks out the G/NETIC rebels with split high frequency blades and molecular "solid smoke" projectors, favoring close-proximity and multiple angle target laceration.

PROJECT: Fiora: Augmented for speed, Fiora uses her zero-pulse sword to fight alongside Ashe and the other members of G/NETIC. The full-length energy blade allows for flawless attack precision and maximum repel strength, while the spatially controlled atomic tip coating is the most suited for single-target combat.

PROJECT: Yasuo: Yasuo returned from advanced combat only to be accused of a crime he did not commit. Knowing that PROJECT’s corporate leadership was somehow involved, Yasuo fights with the G/NETIC rebels, cutting away the lies of technology with his plasma coated blade.

PROJECT: Ekko: A hacked prodigy picked up from the lower sectors by Ashe, it didn’t take much to convince Ekko to help her take down PROJECT. Using a powerful key decrypter and a mind tuned for disruption, Ekko can always find a way into the code.

PROJECT: Jhin: After a botched surgery, Jhin went from being a black-market augmented hacker to a notorious mechanized killer for hire. Still programmed with a taste for high-clearance upgrades, the tech Jhin takes from his victims has left him with a severe personality fragmentation, and a dark vision for the future of PROJECT… and humanity.

PROJECT: Katarina: Once and ambitious lieutenant in the G/NETIC rebellion, Katarina returned to the Command Line after a confrontation with Ashe herself. Her hyper edge daggers now serve PROJECT once more, but those rebels who knew her still hold out hope that she fights for them from the inside.

PROJECT: Vi: Street-smart, brash and always bluntly honest, Vi is a Central detective working to keep law and order in the neon city. Toughened from her days as a lower sector enforcer, Vi keeps the peace with a pair of ATLAS gauntlets, and a mean right hook.

Program

Program Lissandra: Build as an all-seeing security bot, Program Lissandra rose above her initial code to become a self-generating artificial intelligence. She manipulates the technology of augmented humans with her own mimetic command, so that all will fall before her.

Program Soraka: Program Soraka was created as a support bot to protect humanity's fragile nature, offering technological salvation at the hands of a mechanical angel. Infiltrated by corrupted code, it is unclear if this mission of mercy remains her prime directive.

iBlitzcrank: Built as household assistance automata, thousands of iBlitzcranks were corrupted by Program during a routine software update. With their human owners oblivious to this fact, they continue to help, waiting patiently for the time their new command lines are initiated.

Program Camille: Weaponized to quell the G/NETIC rebellion, Program Camille is a robotic assassin who will kill any human trying to utilize unauthorized technology. A being of adaptable protocols and laser-like focus she takes her orders directly from Program's superior artificial intelligence.

Star Guardian

Star Guardian Jinx: Much to the annoyance of her team, Jinx is an impulsive and sometimes cynical Star Guardian who loves a good glittery explosion. However, when the fighting starts, Jinx will throw herself into battle to protect others, especially her childhood friend Lux.

Star Guardian Lux: Cheerful and courageous, Lux shines the brightest among her Star Guardian team. While young and inexperienced, the pink-haired captain's optimism inspires others in their destiny to protect the universe. She truly believes that as long as they fight together, there is no darkness they can't overcome.

Star Guardian Janna: Soft-spoken and sometimes distant, Janna serves mentor to her younger team and gently guides them towards a true understanding of their destiny. While she rarely offers information about her mysterious past, her poise and quiet strength are deeply admired by her Star Guardian teammates.

Star Guardian Lulu: The Youngest member of Lux's team, Lulu is an odd but gifted Star Guardian. Though her unique relationship with the Starlight is sometimes puzzling, Lulu can be counted on to support her team - and let them know that the light supports them, too.

Star Guardian Poppy: Fierce and no-nonsense, Poppy is often the first Star Guardian on the battle lines, ready to put her duty before everything else. With her trusty hammer, Poppy sees the universe as black and white: you're either here to smash anything that threatens the sanctity of the cosmos, or you're getting smashed.

Star Guardian Ahri: Ahri is a charismatic team captain who leads her group of Star Guardians from the outer cosmos, with the authority of a queen bee and the sly cunning of a fox. She's effortlessly popular, with an irresistible charm that disarms friends and foes alike.

Star Guardian Ezreal: With a boundless curiosity about the universe, Ezreal is a born explorer, and becoming a Star Guardian only served to fuel his appetite for discovery. Though known to wander off, he always returns when most needed, especially now, as a certain pink-haired guardian from another team has caught his attention…

Star Guardian Miss Fortune: Second in command to Ahri, Miss Fortune is a hot-headed Star Guardian gunslinger from the galactic rim. She is the first to charge into battle with her twin pistols, often ignoring her own safety as long as she can take down every enemy in sight.

Star Guardian Soraka: A gentle soul with a mysterious origin among the stars, Soraka protects her team from behind the frontlines. Despite her shy appearance, she carries immense healing power and an unprecedented command of the Starlight, more than any other Star Guardian her team has encountered.

Star Guardian Syndra: Feared and admired, Syndra is a formidable Guardian from an earlier era, whose history is cloaked in shadow. She acts as an advisor on Ahri's team, but despite her captain's trust, some members suspect there is no price that Syndra won't pay to achieve her personal ambitions.

Dark Star

Dark Star Kha'Zix: The hunger of the abyss, Kha'Zix is an alien horror whose ceaseless appetite feeds the Dark Star. Appearing before planets like a titanic locust, it devours all it encounters - the power of a hundred thousand stars fueling its evolution into an ever-greater threat.

Dark Star Varus: An interstellar titan containing multitudes within his eldritch mind, Varus serves the all-consuming Dark Star, a dread singularity born in the darkness of deep space. His arrival is cataclysmic extinction event, erasing entire planetary systems as if they were never there.

Dark Star Thresh: A cosmic nightmare who worships the all-consuming Dark Star, Thresh vows to feed the whole of existence to his "god" until all matter, time and thought are erased. His work will be complete when nothing remains, freeing him to finally leap into the singularity and become one with the end of the universe.

Dark Star Orianna: Born out of the remnants of a magnificently advanced system, Orianna serves the Dark Star with meticulous precision. She dances across galaxies in an endlessly horrifying performance, the only witness is the silent trail left in her wake.

Dragon World

Dragon Sorceress Zyra: Survivors of recent monster attacks tell stories of serpents in the sky and a powerful sorceress nesting deep in the mountains. If the rumors are true, it means the dragons have returned - and this time, Zyra is breeding them.

Dragonslayer Xin Zhao: The sorceress called a great mountain her home, and from it, reborn dragons poured endlessly into the sky. Though dragonslayers fell all around him, Xin Zhao struck into the monster's lair, determined to end her evil once and for all.

Dragon Trainer Tristana: As the dragonslayers fought a bitter war with their nemeses, Tristana was busy with a draconic matter of her own. Deep in the wooded forests, away from the battles, she busily trained a young dragon - a trying task rewarded with a lifelong friendship.

Dragon Trainer Lulu: Dragons, though feared, are still living things and can be befriended under the right circumstances. Lulu enthralled her small friend with whimsical magic… becoming the first dragon trainer.

Dragonslayer Pantheon: When dragon fire consumed the world, heroes rose from the embers and cast down the beasts of legend. These warriors passed into history, then myth... but Pantheon alone remained, the last of the ancient dragonslayers.

Dragonslayer Braum: Dragonslayers first rose to battle their ancient foes hundreds of years ago, and after their victory, the land fell into a long, forgetful peace. When the dragons returned, most of the ancient warriors had passed away, leaving Braum to take up to their task with only his mighty shield to defend the innocent.

Dragonslayer J4: All are accepted into the ranks of the dragonslayers, from the lowliest peasant to the mightiest king, for dragons would devour all equally. Jarvan IV willingly gave up the throne to join his doomed countrymen and stand against the fury of monsters reborn.

Dragonslayer Vayne: Many heeded the call of the dragonslayers as they mustered their forces, from common cutpurses to fabled monster hunters. Vayne was one such legendary recruit-for what is a dragon, if not the deadliest beat of all?

Esport skins:

TPA Ezreal: Honoring BeBe's winning performance as Ezreal during the 2012 World Championship.

SKT T1 Zed: Honouring Faker's winning performance as Zed during the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Zyra: Honouring PoohManDu's winning performance as Zyra during the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Azir: Honouring Easyhoon's winning performance as Azir during the 2015 World Championship.

SKT T1 Ryze: Honouring Faker's winning performance as Ryze during the 2015 World Championship. This is Faker's second World Champion skin, following his win with SKT at the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Zac: Honouring Blank's winning performance as Zac during the 2016 World Championship.

Championship Zed: Celebrating the 2016 World Championship in North America.

Championship Kalista: Celebrating the 2015 World Championship in Europe.

Championship Riven: The first Championship skin released, celebrating the 2012 World Championship in North America

Championship Riven 2016: A revamped version of Championship Riven, celebrating the 2016 World Championship in North America

Championship Shyvana: Celebrating the 2014 World Championship in Korea.

Championship Thresh: Celebrating the 2013 World Championship in North America.

Championship Ashe: Celebrating the 2017 World Championship in China.

Victorious Graves: Victorious Graves was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2017 season. The most wanted outlaw in Bilgewater boasts of his years of skillful heists, by wearing the finest regalia money can buy.

Victorious Elise: Victorious Elise was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2013 season. Spin a wicked web for your enemies in gold-trimmed armor and deep purple robes, and chuckle as they struggle.

Victorious Janna: Victorious Janna was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2012 season. Armed with a crystalline staff and the best Demacian armor, Victorious Janna unleashes epic gales to blow her enemies away.

Victorious Jarvan IV: Victorious Jarvan IV was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2011 season. As the first Victorious skin ever released, Jarvan shines in silver armor with a flashy gold trim.

Victorious Maokai: Victorious Maokai was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2016 season. Victorious Maokai lays down his roots fashionably with vines of golden leaves and a rich blue and gold robe.

Victorious Sivir: Victorious Sivir was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2015. As the ultimate battle mistress, Sivir wears a winged crown of victory and wields a golden weapon.

Victorious Morgana: Victorious Morgana was awarded to players who reached Gold or higher in the 2014. A queen of shadows, Victorious Morgana glides through Summoner's Rift in deep blue armour, with a flashy recall.

Conqueror Karma: Commemorating the 2017 Mid-Season invitational in Brazil.

SKT T1 Olaf: Honoring Bengi's winning performance as Olaf during the 2016 World Championship. This is Bengi's third World Champion skin, following his wins with SKT at the 2013 and 2015 World Championships.

SKT T1 Jax: Honoring Impact's winning performance as Jax during the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Lee Sin: Honoring Bengi's winning performance as Lee Sin during the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Vayne: Honoring Piglet's winning performance as Vayne during the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Alistar: Honoring Wolf's winning performance as Alistar during the 2015 World Championship.

SKT T1 Elise: Honoring Bengi's winning performance as Elise during the 2015 World Championship. This is Bengi's second World Championship skin, following his win with SKT at the 2013 World Championship.

SKT T1 Kalista: Honoring Bang's winning performance as Kalista during the 2015 World Championship.

SKT T1 Renekton: Honoring MaRin's winning performance as Renekton during the 2015 World Championship.

SKT T1 Ekko: Honoring Duke's winning performance as Ekko during the 2016 World Championship.

SKT T1 Jhin: Honoring Bang's winning performance as Jhin during the 2016 World Championship. This is Bang's second World Champion skin, following his win with SKT at the 2015 World Championship.

SKT T1 Nami: Honoring Wolf's winning performance as Nami during the 2016 World Championship. This is Wolf's second World Champion skin, following his win with SKT at the 2015 World Championship.

SKT T1 Syndra: Honoring Faker's winning performance as Syndra during the 2016 World Championship. This is Faker's third World Champion skin, following his wins with SKT at the 2013 and 2015 World Championships.

Fnatic Corki: Honoring LaMiaZeaLoT's winning performance as Corki during the 2011 World Championship.

Fnatic Gragas: Honoring Shushei's winning performance as Gragas during the 2011 World Championship.

Fnatic Janna: Honoring Melisan's winning performance as Janna during the 2011 World Championship.

Fnatic Jarvan IV: Honoring Cyanide's winning performance as Jarvan IV during the 2011 World Championship.

Fnatic Karthus: Honoring xPeke's winning performance as Karthus during the 2011 World Championship.

TPA Mundo: Honoring Lilballz's winning performance as Mundo during the 2012 World Championship.

TPA Nunu: Honoring MiSTakE's winning performance as Nunu during the 2012 World Championship.

TPA Orianna: Honoring Toyz's winning performance as Orianna during the 2012 World Championship.

TPA Shen: Honoring Stanley's winning performance as Shen during the 2012 World Championship.

SSW Rengar: Honoring DanDy's winning performance as Rengar during the 2014 World Championship.

SSW Singed: Honoring Looper's winning performance as Singed during the 2014 World Championship.

SSW Talon: Honoring PawN's winning performance as Talon during the 2014 World Championship.

SSW Thresh: Honoring Mata's winning performance as Thresh during the 2014 World Championship.

SSW Twitch: Honoring imp's winning performance as Twitch during the 2014 World Championship.

Lunar Revel: Warring Kingdoms

Warring Kingdoms Xin Zhao: Legendary warrior and a proud general both, Xin Zhao fights across the Warring Kingdoms to preserve peace for the common man. His spear is said to be sharp enough to pierce the sky, striking with the force of thunder.

Warring Kingdoms Azir: Seeing the Warring Kingdoms clash from his palace in the mountains, the ageless ruler known as Azir left his home with an army of spectral soldiers. He promised that one day he would return and put an end to the conflict for good.

Warring Kingdoms Katarina: In open defiance of her clan, Katarina has left behind the life of a princess to hunt the greatest heroes of the Warring Kingdoms. Striking under shadow of night, she is slowly cutting her way through her foes... one general at a time.

Warring Kingdoms Nidalee: A wild, untamed fighter steeped in myth, it is difficult to know what is true of Nidalee and what is legend. Some say she fights with the ferocity of a white tiger, while others of the Warring Kingdoms believe she can become the creature itself.

Warring Kingdoms Jarvan IV: A fabled warrior of peerless might, Jarvan IV strides across the Warring Kingdoms seeking only the worthiest opponents. All others careless enough to face him are crushed without mercy, the earth erupting beneath his immeasurable strength.

Dragonblade Talon: Legend says that Talon's blades were forged in the fire of a shadow dragon, and that he turned against his corrupt masters, cutting through them one by one before vanishing into the night. Many believe he will appear again whenever the strong take advantage of the weak.

Dragonblade Riven: One tale of the kingdoms tells of Riven, her sword forged in dragonfire, descending into an enemy enclave in the aftermath of battle. Slaying her foes and freeing their captives, she rampaged across the countryside, crushing any who would enslave the innocent.

Warring Kingdoms Garen: Brave guardian of Azir's ancient fortress, Garen is a mighty warrior who charges fearlessly into even the most hopeless battles. He fights for the glory of his ruler and the safety of his people, a powerful, if headstrong, force for justice.

Warring Kingdoms Tryndamere: Tryndamere is a grand general of the Warring Kingdoms, so deadly and so feared it is said he is the god of war incarnate. Truly a spectacle to behold, it would take a thousand men to kill him in battle, and a thousand more to keep him dead.

Warring Kingdoms Vi: Vi is the mighty enforcer of Azir's will - a ferocious, ruthless combatant who trills in any challenge, no matter how outmatched she may be. Her gauntlets are carved from mystic jade, and each strike connects with the power of a cannon.

Lunar Revel: Firecracker

Firecracker Jinx: Never one to turn down an imaginary challenge, Jinx has constructed a number of Lunar Revel weapons, including a seven foot long rocket shaped like an angry dragon. She'll tell you it's a fun firecracker for parties. It is not.

Dragonwing Corki: Corki's pit crew made sure to outfit him with a special ship for Lunar Revel, emblazoned with the visage of a dragon to scare off evil spirits. It has been further modified to spray bullets and fire explosives... presumably also to scare off evil spirits.

Panda Annie: Annie is a big part of Lunar Revel festivities, using her pyromancy to set off scores of high powered fireworks. Her panda bear Tibbers hauls the rockets for her, mauling anyone who tries to make off with even the smallest sparkler.

Lion Dance Kog'Maw: It is unclear if Kog'Maw even understands what Lunar Revel is, but someone seems to have painted him for it. The person has presumably been eaten and digested, but Kog'Maw does look very festive.

Lunar Revel

Jade Fang Cassiopeia: An adherent to the teachings of the legendary jade dragon, Cassiopeia keeps its archaic rituals secret and the beast's true nature shrouded in mystery. In recognition she has been granted a fragment of the creature's power, and awaits the day when it will drown the world in evil.

Jade Dragon Wukong: Imbued with the power of the legendary jade dragon, Wukong has honed his abilities to a razor sharp point. Though still headstrong and brash, his newfound power is undeniable - a worrying sign to his master, as the jade dragon carries a powerful curse…

Dragon Fist Lee Sin: A famed martial artist beloved the world over, Lee Sin prefers to train far away from the public eye, honing his craft in solitude. Rumors claim that he can punch with the fury of a dragon - but if anyone knows for sure, they're not talking.

Lunar Wraith Caitlyn: A malignant spirit said to appear during Lunar Revel, Caitlyn is known to meddle in the affairs of gods and mortals alike. Her attention has been catastrophic to all who draw it, and even seeing her is considered an ill omen.

Lunar Wraith Morgana: Morgana is a dark spirit who appears during Lunar Revel - a famed seducer of mortals, monsters and gods alike. Legends says she ensnares the hearts and minds of her victims before dragging their souls away to an unspeakable purgatory, never to be heard from again.

Lunar Guardian Warwick: Gifted to the Lunar Empress when she was a child, Warwick was raised alongside her to guard the immortal realm from an encroaching darkness. More beastly and feral than his companion Nasus, Warwick stands watch in the south, relentlessly pursuing foes to the ends of the world.

Lunar Guardian Nasus: A gift to the young Lunar Empress, Nasus was raised alongside her to guard the immortal realm from an ancient darkness. Stoic but powerful, he stands watch in the north, annihilating all who would threaten the land.

Lunar Empress Lux: Groomed from a young age to guard the immortal realm from the darkness, the Lunar Empress and her companions are said to stand watch over the world. Lux, though a powerful demigod in her own right, draws aid from the ever-faithful Warwick and Nasus.

Radiant Wukong: An ascendant being of nearly limitless power, Radiant Wukong has undertaken a great journey to test his skills against history's greatest warriors. However, overcoming his quick temper and impulsive nature might be his greatest challenge yet.

Pentakill

Pentakill Olaf: Good drummers have rhythm, huge body counts, and are accursed vikings with an insatiable desire to kill. PENTAKILL's Olaf is a very, very good drummer.

Pentakill Karthus: Lead singer of heavy-metal sensation PENTAKILL, Karthus sings in the voice of a fallen angel made of freshly polished chrome and dynamite that eats other dynamite. His vocals explode the sun in the sky, igniting the flame of metal within the hearts of all who hear.

Pentakill Yorick: Yorick was resurrected with the undying soul of heavy metal inside him for the singular purpose of joining PENTAKILL and melting faces with his bass guitar. He can also summon an army of roadie ghouls, a handy trick for any seasoned stage performer.

Pentakill Mordekaiser: PENTAKILL's gigantic lead guitarist - and a titan of the old world - Mordekaiser rocks with the fury of an epoch lost to time. Bigger than a two-story house, his guitar overflows with heavy metal licks rebuking the gods themselves.

Pentakill Sona: Never tell Sona of PENTAKILL that keyboards aren't metal. Her instrument is filled with living barbed wire and a sonic scream loud enough to bring other, lesser musical genres crashing to their knees.

Pentakill Kayle: When PENTAKILL needed a female vocalist, the heavens parted and a literal angel of rock fell to earth, taking up her sword-mic for the eternal glory of heavy metal.

Cosmic

Cosmic Dawn Rakan: Dawn chases dusk beneath the seas, two lovers locked in an endless waltz across the stars. Thus Rakan is never behind Xayah, breaking light glowing always above her shadow.

Cosmic Dusk Xayah: Dusk beckons the dawn to its embrace, two lovers locked in an endless waltz across the stars. Thus Xayah is always a step ahead of Rakan, leading him forever into her arms.

Cosmic Reaver Kassadin: Born before the kindling of the stars, Kassadin stands alone in space's vast void. He watches over all things, a sentinel awaiting the end of this universe… and the beginning of the next.

Cosmic Blade Master Yi: Gliding effortlessly from star to star, Yi flashes through the night sky with celestial grace, his blade arcing with crystalline precision through the fabric of the universe itself.

Sweethearts and Heartseekers

Heartseeker Varus: Love hurts, and Varus is ready to prove it with a quiver full of romance and the seasoned eye of a veteran matchmaker. Angelic harps follow him across the world as he searches for unwitting lovebirds, who soon find their chests pierced by deadly heart-shaped arrowtips.

Sweetheart Annie: Sugar, spice and everything nice: that's what Sweetheart Annie is made of! Tibbers is made of fire-resistant cotton blend and the insatiable hunger of a shadow bear, but he's still good for a hug or two. Probably just one, actually.

Heartseeker Ashe: Leader of the Heartseekers and self-described queen of hearts, Ashe is just a ruler with no tolerance for agony or grief as the season of romance approaches. Instead she'd rather fill the world with love... generally using projectile weapons.

Heartseeker Vayne: Take a tumble with Heartseeker Vayne, the season of romance's number one exterminator of supernatural horrors! With her trusty crossbow, iron will, and years of brutal training, she'll make sure no heart will ever escape her grasp.

Heartseeker Orianna: A mechanical girl built to find and comfort broken hearts, Orianna still does not understand why people run from her when she's only trying to help them. Still, she goes about her duties diligently, performing beautiful clockwork dances for any who would give her a chance.

Sweetheart Sona: Sona's quiet elegance and mastery of enchanted music might make the heart go all aflutter, but don't be fooled - she can cut a man in half at thirty paces with her harp's soundwaves. That's the duality of love: sometimes you win, sometimes you get cut in half by soundwaves.

Heartseeker Lucian: Behind curtain one: a dashing man with an adventurous plan. It seems he'll only agree to dinner by lantern light, but you can bet his intentions are pure... It's Lucian, here to sweep you off your feet into the daring life of a Heartseeker.

Heartseeker Quinn: It's a bird! It's a plane! It's a... dove? Quinn takes up the mantle of the Heartseekers to channel her inner romantic, peppering the battlefield with dozens of razor-sharp arrows and giant, stinging bird scratches.

Worldbreaker

Worldbreaker Nautilus: The first of four titans prophesied to shatter the world, Nautilus is set to rise when the moon smothers the sun. It is said he will emerge from the sea, heralding a great cleansing tide that will wash away all of mankind.

Worldbreaker Trundle: The second of four titans prophesied to shatter the world, it has been foretold that Trundle will appear when the moon smothers the sun. In that darkness, he will rise in the north, blanketing all of creation with frost until the land is cold and silent.

Worldbreaker Hecarim: The third of four titans prophesied to shatter the world, Hecarim will begin his hunt when the moon smothers the sun. Riding from the south, his rampaging shadow will be cast across the land, infecting the living with dread and darkness.

Worldbreaker Nasus: The last of four titans prophesied to shatter the world, Nasus is the true end of all things. A monstrous abomination of smoke and flame, he will emerge from the bottom of the earth in a column of hungry fire, devouring all of existence.

Sun Goddess Karma: An ageless being in whom the sun rises and sets, Karma is the key to an ancient prophecy spelling doom for the world. When she is overtaken by the moon, four titans will rise up from the depths of the earth, annihilating all life.

Rift Quest

Veigar Greybeard: A suspiciously helpful wizard the party meets early in their adventure, Veigar Greybeard holds a dastardly secret - he's the true villain of Rift Quest! Of course, this is obvious to anyone who played the starter campaign, but you still shouldn't spoil it for newcomers.

Bard Bard: Though playing a famously unpopular Rift Quest character class, Bard Bard has turned the ancient art of song into a reality-altering weapon of death. Unfortunately his turns take forever, since he has no concept of linear time and speaks in those weird "bwong" sounds.

Jayce Brighthammer: A noble paladin who has inexplicably mastered science and engineering, Jayce Brighthammer is a stout ally no foul creature can best! Unless that foul creature is a loophole in the rulebook, since Jayce likes to get any advantage over the Rift Master he can.

Karthus Lightsbane: Dark sorcerer, master of forbidden magic, aspiring lich - all could describe Karthus Lightsbane, a high level spellcaster with shadowy motivations. The rest of the party is convinced he'll eventually betray them, since nothing in the Rift Quest rules says he can't.

Sejuani Dawnchaser: Riding her dire lion into the thick of combat, Sejuani Dawnchaser is an intimidating foe for all but the greatest Rift Quest threats. Sadly not the most careful roleplayer, she's on her fourth dire lion this campaign.

Gragas Caskbreaker: Gragas Caskbreaker is described in legend as both a pious, sun-worshipping cleric and a despicable drunk, depending on who tells the tale. He's not too familiar with Rift Quest, but he does like fighting dragons and passing out in the middle of his combat actions.

Varus Swiftbolt: Two archers cursed by an ancient, evil monster, Varus is roleplaying one archer cursed by an ancient, evil monster. It's not much of a departure for him, but Varus is way better at hunting Noxians than playing tabletop games.

Ryze Whitebeard: Ryze likes to take time out of his rune hunting to play games of Rift Quest as a tome-wielding, scroll protecting wizard also named Ryze. The difference, he will often point out, is that his own beard is black - Ryze Whitebeard's beard is white, plus he has a hat.

Braum Lionheart: The strongest, bravest knight in all the land, people love Braum Lionheart and his daring tales of adventure! He's definitely not a stickler for 7th-edition Rift Quest rules, and there are certainly not snax stains on his character sheet. That would be unbecoming of such a gallant warrior.

Rugged Garen: Also known as “Handsome Garen,” this wandering warrior and extremely original NPC was created by Braum for his Rift Quest game. Garen eventually adopted the character as his own, liking the fantasy of himself, but rugged.

2010 Winter Games

The Mighty Jax: The hockey prodigy known as Jax is feared throughout the tournament circuit for his incredible reflexes and ability to kill a man with any object. There are rumors he used to be a defense attorney, but nobody knows for certain.

Vancouver Amumu: The Vancouver Board of Public Safety would like to assure citizens that no cursed mummies have been spotted within the city limits. Cursed mummies are not native to the Vancouver area. Please do not torch cursed mummies, spreading their mummy curse.

Curling Veigar: Curling is a sport where players slide stones across the ice with a stick. Veigar is an evil yordle obsessed with annihilating the great cities of Valoran. It just makes sense.

Ice Toboggan Corki: Having broken the land-speed record in most other vehicular sports, Corki has turned his attention to the ice luge - a momentum-based activity that doesn't require a state-of-the-art flying sled with a forward mounted machine gun. He brought one anyway.

Union Jack Fiddlesticks: It's probably best not to ask how Fiddlesticks ended up draped in a tattered Union Jack. He's a bloodthirsty scarecrow older than time itself, and that's a question that is better left to the professionals.

Festival Kassadin: Reigning from his frozen throne on a lonely mountain, Kassadin prepares in secret for a special festival hidden deep in the icy wastes. Whether it's a winter sports festival, none can say... except for the attendees, who think he's being ridiculous.

Whistler Village Twitch: Whistler Village is an idyllic mountain hamlet known for spiced cocoa, competitive winter sports, and rumors of an insane man-rat living in the woods. Attempts to appease the creature with spiced cocoa and competitive winter sports have been unsuccessful.

Team Spirit Anivia: Despite her festive colors, Anivia is an incredibly poor sport. She has been known to wall off the exits to locker rooms and fire icicles at her teammates when faced with a loss, behavior that would would be disciplined... if she hadn't frozen the judges and referees.

Snow Day

Snow Day Singed: Even deranged chemists need a day off, and Singed is no exception. Riding into battle with a his recently sharpened sled and (patent pending) Portablizzard backpack, he is ready to dominate the snowball game, one crushing victory at a time.

Snow Day Bard: Bard’s vast cosmic powers and inscrutable nature are great assets in a snowball fight. Summoning an array of enchanted Winterland penguins, self-warming cups of cocoa, and portals to nowhere give this Wandering Caretaker an unbeatable edge.

Snow Day Gnar: Gnar can't resist the call of a tussle in fresh powder, but woe to those who forget what they're dealing with. Mega Gnar lurks just beneath the surface, ready to take the snowball fight to the next level… and rip someone in half.

Snow Day Syndra: Impossibly powerful magic is one way to enter a snowball fight, and Syndra's unshackled abilities spell doom for anyone who hates getting snow in their eyes. Everyone has a lighter side, even the Dark Sovereign.

Snow Day Ziggs: Ziggs knows a thing or two about lobbing bombs, and he's happy to take a break and throw snowballs around instead. If by a "a couple", you mean several hundred, and by "balls", you mean volatile spheres of explosive wintery death.

Snow Day Graves: Outfitted with his mighty snowblowing gun and a can-do attitude, Graves enters every snowball fight with the same entrepreneurial spirit that go him out of prison. Which is to say, blowing a lot of things up with little no regard for his own safety.

Snow Day Malzahar: Prophets of doom love a snow day as much as anybody-perhaps even more, since Malzahar knows everything will one day be swallowed by the Void. Clad in fashionable winter gear and flanked by an army of voidling poros, he's ready to usher in the snowball apocalypse.

Winter Wonder

Winter Wonder Orianna: A strange clockwork girl imbued with the magic of the Winterlands, Orianna once lived within a snowglobe created by a kindly old inventor. At the end of his life he freed her, and now she searches for greater purpose, serving in the court of the Poro King.

Winter Wonder Karma: A powerful sorceress at one with the natural world, Karma spreads snow like a soft blanket across the enchanted forests of the Winterlands. A loyal friend of the Poro King-wherever Karma goes, winter follows

Winter Wonder Lulu: A kindly sorceress trailed by her poro pal Pix, Lulu's whimsical ice magic amazes and delights Snowdown revelers everywhere. She's also a skilled fighter, firing deadly glacial spikes and transforming foes into harmless snowmen.

Snowstorm Sivir: The wild and brash Battle Mistress known as Sivir cares only for the thrill of combat and the rattle of coin. She relentlessly hunt her bounties across the ice, cutting down opponents with a massive, razor-sharp snowflake as hard and unforgiving as the cruelest snowstorm.

Poro Rider Sejuani: Stranded as a child in the Poro King's enchanted Winterlands, Sejuani was taken in by the poros and raised as their own. She is now one of their greatest champions, riding a slobbery, snack-obsessed war poro against any who would threaten her adoptive home.

Snow Fawn Poppy: The Poro King's right hand and loyal shield, Poppy enforces her furry liege's decrees and protects him from all harm. She also enjoys Snowdown festivities, a holiday she discovered on one of her many colorful adventures.

Sugar Rush

Dark Candy Fiddlesticks: An eldritch candy horror that draws its power from holiday anxiety, Fiddlesticks aimlessly stalks the hinterlands in the darkest corners of the Winterlands. Should a hapless traveler stumble upon it, Fiddlesticks will cut them down with its peppermint scythe and an army of hungry crows.

Toy Box

Toy Soldier Gangplank: Gangplank is a model soldier in the toy army, racking up an impressive array of victories against the dolls and stuffed animals. He hopes to one day be named Toy General, leading his troops into glorious battle.